

A guide to changing your world

PHILOSOPHY – POLITICS – ECONOMICS – RELIGION

Ethics, actions, freedom are universally present in all the worlds inhabited by self-conscious beings. Yet those elements are not active in your world. The myth of ethics makes man believe that he is gaining freedom (a detachment from the world of matter) when in fact he is losing the power of action; the myth of politics makes man believe that he is gaining ethics (through the obedience to laws) when in fact he is losing freedom; and finally the myth of economics makes man believe that his quest for success is victorious when in fact he is losing ethics.

Many people understand that poverty and crime should not exist.

Almost everyone is convinced that not much can be done to eliminate either. If there were a solution at least one of the 52 billion people who have ever lived on earth would have found it. Even the life that Christ promoted accepted misery. No wonder most literature and human creativity has turned to escapism and entertainment. Why waste energy on utopias?

But solutions do exist.

The solutions described in this book demand that you, the reader, see with my eyes – the eyes of a being who is taking a fresh look at your world. Only then will you yourself be able to see clearly.

What you see will change your life and your world forever.
